For any child who was under age 14 on January 1, 2000, investment income over $1,400 is taxed at the parent's rate if the parent's rate is higher than the child's rate. If the child's investment income is more than $1,400, use this form to figure the child's tax. However, include only income taxed by California on this form. Also include investment income that was not taxed on the child's federal tax return but is taxable under California law.

If the child uses form FTB 3800, he or she must file Form 540, California Resident Income Tax Return or Form 540NR, California Nonresident or Part-Year Resident Income Tax Return.

Do not use form FTB 3800 if:

- Neither of the child's parents was living on December 31, 1999; OR

- The child's investment income was less than $1,400.

If the child does not file form FTB 3800, figure the tax in the normal manner on the child's Form 540, Form 540A, Form 540EZ, or Form 540NR.

Note: Parents of children who were under age 14 on January 1, 2000, may elect to include the child's investment income on the parent's tax return. To make this election, the child must have had income only from interest and dividends. The election is not available if estimated tax payments were made in the child's name. Refer to form FTB 3803, Parents' Election to Report Child's Interest and Dividends, for more information. If parents make this election, the child will not have to file a California tax return or form FTB 3800.

Caution: If you elect to report your child's income on your federal income tax return, but not on your California income tax return, be sure to make an adjustment on your Schedule CA (540 or 540NR), line 21f.

Specific Instructions

If the custodial parent and the new spouse filed separate returns, enter the name and social security number of the person with the higher taxable income, even if that person is not the child's parent.
